FYI-03	DC Health Warns of Health Professional License Scam Phone Scam: DC Health is warning the public of an ongoing scam in which scammers are impersonating DC Health representatives and other government officials in a phone, email and fax scam. Scammers are contacting health professionals via phone, email, or fax by replicating government phone numbers and outdated letterhead to appear legitimate. The scammers are requesting money in association with a District of Columbia health professional license, registration or certification regarding an alleged investigation or suspension. If you happen to receive unsolicited phone calls, emails or faxes similar in nature: • DC Health will never contact you with a request for money. Do not share your credit card number, personal information, or other financial information. Do not wire transfer money or transfer funds to anyone you do not know. Do not feel pressured to act. To confirm the identity of D C Health personnel or verify any suspicious requests, please contact ohplb@dc.gov or call (202) 724-8800. For more information on how to avoid government impersonator scams, and where to report them, please visit the Federal Trade Commission at How To Avoid a Government Impersonation Scam Consumer Advice
FYI-04	OT/OTA's Regulations- Educational/Training Requirements Update: This matter will need to be addressed during regulation updates. Background: Per OT and OTA Regulations, all applicants must meet the educational, training and national examination requirements. This means that the Board should verify those requirements. To verify that information an official transcript and official exam scores are required. However, the Board staff is currently only verifying the National Board for Certification in Occupational Therapy (NBCOT) Exam score for examination applicants and the official NBCOT verification for endorsement applicants. If the Board had waived the verification of the educational and training requirements (official transcript) then a policy statement should be developed. Currently there is no written official record that shows that this waiver was established previously. In December 2024, Ms. Konah Bernard, OT, NBCOT Ambassador, provided a short information regarding NBCOT Ambassador. Ms. Bernard indicated the ambassador go to different schools to strengthen the stakeholder's relationship and to increase connection with the public. NBCOT has a new president. Ms. Bernard talked about the exam integrity and safeguard. In addition, the Board also voted to have NBCOT to discuss safeguard for the applicants and the Board to review the website/checklist.
